LE MERIDIEN BORA BORA

WHAT'S HOT IN FRENCH POLYNESIA?

French Polynesia is an intriguing enigma, not only to the people elsewhere in the world, who look at a map and see the beautiful South Sea Islands floating way down in the South Pacific, but also to the Tahitian locals, who can spend years making leisurely exploration and still feel they've only just begun to comprehend the full nature of their own back yard Paradise.

You may come to Tahiti and her island to seek paradise, but as soon as you set foot on its shores, you'll find a whole lot more...you'll discover experiences of a life time. The beauty of the Polynesian people is famous world-wide.

But only those who visit the island know that it's contagious. Sure enough, there's something in the air, the food, and the local concoctions that give those down on the island a gorgeous glow.

Your clients' attendees will credit their rejuvenation to the unique island light that energizes their spirit. They thank the gentle lapping of the lagoon waters and the songs of the wind for a new found relaxed state of mind. It also helps that when in Tahiti, visitors unthinkingly do as the Tahitians.

The Polynesians philosophy is that the simple life is the better life. Says one local lovely, "We believe only in what is real and natural. How could anything artificial possibly be better than what we have?"

Just an eight-hour flight from Los Angeles – Tahiti offers surprisingly easy access to a truly magical experience for your incentive attendees staying at Le Meridien Resorts in Tahiti and Bora Bora.

Tahiti and her islands offer experiences that cannot be found elsewhere in the world. Your own private over-water bungalow to swim in shallow turquoise lagoon waters with hundreds of tropical fish; it's an unrivalled incentive reward.

Event and activities are endless....come and experience it all!

Just 20 minutes from the airport, the resort is only accessible by boat. Transfer to and from the airport is provided by a boat in the hotel colors.

Done in a contemporary style which retains the Polynesian touch, the resort is made up of 92 bungalows and 4 villas of 1 or 2 bedrooms, each built in a way which respects the environment and ecosystem, the coral and submarine flora.

So much of the Bora Bora difference is about life on the water and discovering nature. A large selection of activities is offered to make your stay truly relaxing and memorable, including a guided lagoon tour in a Polynesian pirogue or diving to discover the lagoon wild life.

You can also experience the unforgettable feeding of the marine turtles in their natural environment and learn more than you might imagine about their lives, thanks to the biologists in our Turtle Sanctuary.
